To Whom It May Concern:

We've been really excited to work with Amar Shivers during her internship. She did a great job working on <https://www.graffletopia.com> and her portfolio project. It is clear to me that her passion is for front end development and design and that her HTML / CSS / JS skills are growing very rapidly. Coupled with a strong design eye she will make a great addition to any team.

We were initially concerned about communication, but it turned out that once Amar got comfortable, she easily and confidently conveyed her ideas and understanding of what the team was looking for.

I'm confident she will be very a successful developer.

Please let us know if we can provide you with any further information.

Sincerely,

Notch8
